

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

YESTERDAY afternoon Rev. Chas. Merle d'Aubigne, lecturer to the Women's Club on "Two Queens of the Sixteenth Century—Marguerite de Navarre and Jeanne d'Albany," giving his audience a charming sketch of these two important figures in the history of France.

He told of Marguerite's influence for good in an age of depravity, and of her steadfast devotion to her brother, Francis I. She was faithful in all other relations of life, setting an example in an age when marital obligations were held lightly. Her piety also rendered her conspicuous, and her strength of character was evidenced in her ability to adorn prosperity and endure adversity.

Jeanne d'Albany, the only child of Marguerite and Henry II, was born, as Dr. d'Aubigne noted, in 1548 to Rambouillet, a prince of the blood royal, and at her father's death she assumed the title of Queen of Navarre.

Life, said Dr. d'Aubigne, was one of continual and bitter struggle, in which she showed an energy rarely equaled among women.

She showed herself to be a true woman in the tenderness of her affections, in the compassion she felt for the poor and suffering, in the admirable energy with which she brought up her children, giving her son no luxury, but allowing him, clad like a peasant, to climb with the youths of his age along the precipitous paths of the Pyrenees. It is even said that while in La Rochelle she obtained special leave from the pastors to bring her needlework to the church, to cheer her hands and follow better the thread of the discourse.

Dr. d'Aubigne is the general secretary of the Societe Centrale, of Paris, and is in this country to take part in the quadricentennial celebration of the birth of John Calvin. While in the city he is the guest of Dr. W. W. Moore, at the Union Theological Seminary.

At the very pleasant reception which followed the lecture were: Miss Anne W. Archer, Miss Sallie Munford, Mrs. Randolph Tatum, Mrs. Thomas Cary Johnson, Mrs. Lewis Aylatt and Mrs. W. E. Harris.

Home—Wedding.—Mrs. David Garland Whitehead announced the engagement of their sister, Nellie Guy Whitehead, to Dr. Theodore Hough. The wedding will occur early in June.

Miss Whitehead is a daughter of the late Colonel Thomas Whitehead. Dr. Hough is a member of the faculty of the University of Virginia, where he fills the chair of physiology.

For Miss Haynes.—Miss Annie Laurie Haynes, of this city, who is the guest of Mrs. Strother, at her home in Lynchburg, has been having a most delightful time since attending the May Day festivities at Sweet Briar.

Entertained Card Club.—Mrs. Fred Valentini was hostess on Friday afternoon at her residence, 900 Park Avenue, when she entertained her card club very pleasantly. Mrs. Henry Williams made highest score, winning the first prize.

Those present were: Mrs. William Talley, Mrs. Coletta Chapin, Mrs. Guy, Mrs. Henry Williams, Mrs. Blain, Mrs. Talley, Mrs. Austin Brockmeyer, Mrs. C. M. Young, Mrs. Frank Crump and others.

The club will meet next Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Cunningham Hall at the Governor's Mansion to play the final game in a most enjoyable season. Instructional Visiting Nurses' Association.

An important board meeting of the Instructional Visiting Nurses' Association will be held this morning at 11 o'clock in the Nurses' Settlement, 108 North Seventh Street, when reports from Tag Day will be made.

A committee from the Associated Charities will be present to receive its part of the proceeds.

To Attend Smith-Reld Wedding.—Mrs. George C. Reld, who left for Washington, D. C., yesterday, where she will attend the wedding of her daughter, Miss Emily Reld and Dr. Dwight Gordon Smith, which will be celebrated at 8 o'clock this evening in the ballroom of the Savoy.

Rev. John Lee, of Guntown Temple Memorial Church, will officiate, and in the bridal party will be Mrs. William J. Cromer, of Winston-Salem, N. C., as matron of honor; Mrs. Leola Smith, of the bridegroom, and Miss Annie Lee Ray, of this city, the bride's niece, who will act as her bridesmaid.

Graville Smith, of Baltimore, will be best man, and Messrs. Stuart McNamara and William Stewart are to be ushers.

Miss Reld is the daughter of Mrs. Isabel Graham Reld, and is a former Virginian, her father being the late Captain Richard Walker Reld, son of John Orr Reld, of Falling River Camp.

Dr. Smith is a son of the late Judge Irwin Z. Smith, of St. Louis, a graduate of Williams College, Mass., and a

To Meet Dr. d'Aubigne.—There will be a called meeting of the Huguenot Society in the lecture room of the Second Presbyterian Church this afternoon at 5 o'clock to meet Dr. Charles Merle d'Aubigne, secretary of the Societe Centrale of Paris.

Dr. d'Aubigne will tell something of the work in which the society is interested, and will be glad to make the acquaintance of its members.

All those interested are cordially invited to be present.

Meeting of Alumnae.—An especially interesting meeting of the Alumnae Association of Woman's College, this city, will be held on Friday, May 14, at 4 P. M. in the college chapel. Much important business will be transacted, including final arrangements for the May 21 and 22, under the auspices of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Alumnae Association. On these dates Ben Greut will produce "Midsummer Night's Dream," "Twelfth Night" and "Taming of the Shrew."

The election of association officers will also take place Friday night, and at the close of the meeting Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, formerly dean of the college, will make an address.

Surprise Party.—At the home of Mrs. A. L. Hobson, 410 North Twenty-sixth Street, a very attractive surprise party was recently given, the guests enjoying several musical selections by Miss Mabel Hopkins, B. D. Baber and Mercer Luck.

Those present were Messrs. Reble and Mabel Hopkins, Mrs. Ethel Tucker, Misses Owen and Ruth Luck, Misses Dunn and Ruth Hobson, Miss Lucille Dunn, Miss Irene Crowder, Miss Ethel Hutcheson, Miss Adele Gill, Misses Lucy and May Dowdy, Hon. B. D. Baber, Jr., Messrs. Johnson, Gill, Lindwood, Brown, Williams, B. Hopkins, T. Hutcheson, Archie Evans, C. Anderson, Robert Whitken, Delrick, Benjamin Francis, Meton, Luck, Harris, Marston, Baber, Evans and others.

In and Out of Town.—Mrs. John C. Hagan, accompanied by her son, Jack Hagan, left yesterday for Hanover Courthouse, where she will be the guest of Mrs. Willoughby Newton for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nailing and Colonel and Mrs. S. Buford are at the Chautauque, at Atlantic City.

Mrs. A. S. Burgess, of Central Plains, Va., is the guest of her son, C. C. Burgess, at his home, 1415 Floyd Avenue.

Miss Mary McAdoo, of Greensboro, N. C., is visiting her cousin, Miss Marian Lea.

Miss Mittie Dobson, who has been the guest of Miss Virginia Gray, in York Street, Norfolk, has returned to her home in Lynchburg.

Miss Annie Flood, of "Mountain View," Buckingham, Va., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. P. Davis, of 114 West Marshall Street.

Miss Beatrice Wagner, of Newport News, spent the week end here with friends. She was accompanied home by her cousin, Miss Amelia Gresham, who will be her house guest for a week.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Hunt, daughter of Mrs. Ida T. Hunt, of Dallas, Va., to C. W. Dickinson, principal of the Emporia High School, is to take place in the early summer.

Miss Parke Patton is the guest of Mrs. Houston, at her home on East Main Street. Miss Patton formerly lived in Richmond, and has a number of friends here. She has been playing the role of "Lovey Mary" for the past season in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

Miss Helen Richards, who has been the guest of Mrs. Charles Franklin Ray for the past winter, has left for Washington, D. C., to attend the Smith-Reld wedding there to-night and the reception which will follow the ceremony.

Head of Department Pays an Official Visit to Norfolk Navy Yard.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., May 10.—George von L. Meyer, Secretary of the Navy, arrived to-day and made an official inspection of the Norfolk Navy Yard, marines and other government reservations under the control of the Navy Department. Several hours were spent in the inspection.

The distinguished visitor was received with marked honors by the navy, marine and training station officials, the receiving ship, Franklin, firing a salute of seventeen guns on the pier in the inner harbor. The launch bearing Secretary Meyer was met at the pier by a marine guard were immediately placed at his disposal. In a navy yard launch the party proceeded to the St. Helena training station, where the ship and yard were inspected at length.

The entire command of men under training for the navy was in review, and an extensive drill was performed for his benefit. He complimented the men and officers highly.

Returning to the navy-yard proper, the men were thoroughly inspected, the workmen and others, as well as the officers and crews of the battleships in the yard, being inspected in respect. At the conclusion of the inspection Admiral Taussig entertained Secretary Meyer at his residence at an informal dinner.

Following a trip through the naval hospital during the early afternoon, and the extensive grounds of the branch of the service, Secretary Meyer returned to the Dolphin. The Dolphin will sail to-morrow morning for Washington.

Secretary Meyer declined to discuss the proposed reforms in the management of the navy, said of 1912, what

CAMP IS BROKEN ON BLOODY ANGLE

Army Officers Continue Their March Over Routes of Grant and Lee.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] SPOTSYLVANIA, VA., May 10.—The War College staff and other officers with attending cavalry, who have been stationed for the past two days on the "Bloody Angle" battlefield, and who are following the line of march taken by Generals Grant and Lee in campaign of 1864, broke camp this morning and started over the Brook and Colson Roads, along the line of General Grant's flank movement to Guilford, in Caroline county, where a sharp encounter of several hours between the Federal cavalry and the Confederate troopers occurred on May 18, 1864. As the several battalions are reached by the command an encampment is called, and one of the officers is deputed to look over the several positions held by both Union and Confederate forces and make a report of criticism upon the same. These reports are preserved in writing and will be codified and filed and used in the military schools of the country for the benefit of military students. Along with these records will be published the war maps of the Virginia campaigns, which will be valuable auxiliaries to the military student in his study of the movement of armies in these noted movements.

The five staff officers of the War College engaged in this study of campaigns are Colonel John A. Martin, Captain Cooch, Captain Connor and Captain Cheney; one naval officer, Commander Rodgers; one medical officer, Major Straub; one engineer officer, Lieutenant-Colonel Jones, and one cavalry officer, Lieutenant-Colonel Lang-with and twenty-two student officers of the War College. These are attended by a cavalry guard of fifty troopers. When in camp there are fifty tents, eight army wagons, eighty horses and thirty-two mules.

many believe Taft's suggestion will mean legal battle.

ALEXANDRIA, VA., May 10.—President Taft's speech Saturday last relative to the retrocession of the south bank of the Potomac toward Cabin John Bridge, and the District of Columbia, has been the cause of a wide divergence of opinion relative to its feasibility. A number of residents of Alexandria, when seen to-day, and asked for an expression of opinion regarding the matter, ventured the opinion that Virginia would not give up the bridge, and that the retrocession of the south bank would naturally oppose anything of that sort. In view of the fact that it would deny them the right of retrocession.

On the other hand, many residents of Alexandria county, who live in that territory, have expressed themselves as favoring the project, as they believe the change would result in untold good. Many of these people in fact, the majority of them, are engaged in business in Washington.

DISAPPEARANCE IS STILL A MYSTERY

Nothing Learned of Deputy Treasurer, Who Was Last Seen in Alexandria.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] MANASSAS, VA., May 10.—Nothing has yet been learned of the whereabouts of A. M. Sunderlin, the deputy treasurer of Prince William county, who disappeared from Alexandria last Wednesday with $600 of the public funds in his possession.

Mr. Sunderlin has been deputy to Captain James E. Herrell, treasurer, since the spring of 1907, and last year his settlements were made promptly and satisfactorily. Last year he collected and turned over to the treasurer about $2,300. He had collected and paid in $300 of this year's collections. It is believed that the taxes in Dumfries District for the year 1908 will amount to about $1,800, and may be that Mr. Sunderlin has collected more than $600 when he disappeared.

Captain Herrell has ample bond to protect him against loss. Mr. Sunderlin was bonded by his wife, Jack Keys, his wife's uncle, and Dr. D. C. Cline.

There are six treasurer's deputies in the county, and Mr. Sunderlin was the only one of them who had given a bond with personal security, all the others being bonded by a Baltimore company.

Mr. Sunderlin came here from New York and had been in the county making his home at Dumfries, about twenty years. He is an Odd-Fellow and a member of the Jr. O. U. A. M. His family, consisting of his wife and one son, are still in this county.

Mr. Keys and Dr. Cline were here to-day in communication with Captain Herrell and Commonwealth's Attorney J. Jackson Davis in regard to the case.
